

SANITIZING YOUR EMAIL

Purging scammers' email addresses from your mailing lists

Without you knowing it, your mailing lists maybe infected with a few – or a lot – of email addresses belonging to scammers. And we're sure you don't want them to be reading your mail.

In this bulletin, we'll show you how to purge the scammer's email addresses from your lists.

1. MAIL SENDING PLATFORMS

If you regularly send your email newsletters via mail sending platforms, you should have some sort of list cleaning function at your disposal. In short, you feed your portal with our TXT-file containing ALL email addresses used by scammers and request the system to delete any such addresses also existing on your mailing list. Note: Delete the heading information of our list, before feeding it to your portal (refer to Fig. 1).

Download our TXT-file: http://www.translator-scammers.com/pdf/SCAMMERS_EMAILS.txt

2. CLEANING YOUR OWN LISTS

One of the best methods we can recommend is to use a text editor with a very particular feature: the ability to delete duplicate lines. One such editor is EditPad Lite 7.

Download the EditPad Lite 7 (free version) from this address: <http://www.editpadlite.com/download.html>

Note: Follow instructions below referring to Fig. 1

- 2.1 Open EditPad Lite 7 and paste YOUR email mailing list (one email address per line) into a blank page.
- 2.2 At the end of YOUR list, insert a separating line, e.g., -----.
- 2.3 Below the separating line, insert OUR list with the scammers' email addresses (see Note on 1. above).
- 2.4 Select ALL text in the page (CTRL-A).
- 2.5 In Extra > Delete Duplicate Lines (in Lines to Delete, select the boxes: 1st Occurrence of duplicate lines AND 2nd occurrence of duplicate lines, see Fig. 2, next page).

2.6 Click OK.

That's it: all emails addresses belonging to scammers (listed below the separating line) have been deleted from YOUR mailing list (above the separating line).

Now you may retrieve YOUR sanitized list, by copying its contents ABOVE the separating line and pasting it our using it anywhere you want. You may, then, discard the file in EditPad Lite 7, by closing the program without saving the file.
